

Litany of Praise

L: Come, let us worship the God of springtime, who holds us in his hand from birth through childhood and youth when life flows fresh and free.

All: We worship you, God of all seasons, we bless you!

L: Let us worship the God of summer days, the adult years, filled with vibrant energy and focused on achievement and family.

All: We worship you, God of all seasons, we bless you!

L: Let us worship the God of the autumn years, when life slows down, the golden riches of harvested years can be enjoyed, and new steps along life's journey taken amidst the falling leaves.

All: We worship you, God of all seasons, we bless you!

L: Let us worship the God of winter, when life brings a mixture of burdens and joys, a time of true wisdom in spite of diminished strength.

All: We worship you, God of all seasons, we bless you!

L: Let us worship the one God who is God of all seasons, our help in ages past, our hope for years to come. Let us worship confident in another spring and life in God's eternal presence.

All: We worship you, God of all seasons, we bless you!
